

Fall 2018 Adelpic Award

The Adelpic Award is sponsored by the Adelpic Cornell Educational Fund. Each semester an award of $300 is made for the best essay written in a First-Year Writing Seminar by a student whose native language is other than English. Honorable mentions, if any, will receive $100. Publication of the essay in next year's Discoveries is also possible. Essays without accurate documentation might not be so considered.

To be eligible for an award, the essay must have been written in response to a teacher's assignment. The essay should, of course, be fully intelligible to a reader not familiar with the assignment or the course. The submission must include a complete and accurate list of all sources cited, in an accepted documentation format. It must also be accompanied by a copy of the assignment that elicited the essay.

To be eligible for the award, the following statements must be true:

- a) The student's first language is not English.
- b) Less than 50% of the student's elementary school education took place in English.

Submissions are due in 101 McGraw Hall by Monday, December 17. No exceptions can be made.
Undergraduate writers may not submit the same essay for more than one prize.

I understand that I may submit this essay for only one prize for the current semester. Should I win a prize, I give the John S. Knight Institute permission to publish, quote from, and/or distribute copies of my essay, and to distribute publicity to newspapers and other publications, local and/or national, about my winning the prize. I am prepared to send electronic versions of my text (not a PDF, but an editable text document) to Donna Newton (dlo1@cornell.edu) in the Knight Institute. I understand that I will receive the award for my prize-winning essay upon submission of the electronic text.
